
6 years ago - The return of 'Solid Rock'

Back in april 2002 Bob played 'Solid Rock' for the first time in concert since 1981. I'll post two of those hard rockin' performances, cause I think they're great.

Unfortunately Bob omits the song from setlists nowadays.

Your thoughts?

An interesting twist at the time and any similar surprise would be welcome today. They weren't bad versions either. He could do worse than try it again as an occasional substitute for one of the other regular fast paced songs.

It was great when he brought it back to the setlist, i really enjoyed it.I could name a load of the "faster" songs bob could sing nowadays that his 08 voice would do justice too, but i think he's settled on the ones he does regularly.

I'm hanging on, to a solid rock !!!!

I really like the way he sings "of", a new way to say "ohm" and the sun will win or lose this one. Old stories in those rocks, long live rock and roll! And fast paced, George could really break a stick over that one.
