Thanks, appleberry, you're quick!

When Bob announces "Tom Waits", do the people think that he's actually appearing?

Even if, I think the surprise of Stu singing is an even greater treat! Stu's singing is AWESOME!!! Please more!

I'm hoping that this is a sign that Dylan is actually considering some harmonies again. He could use the vocal support, and it might make getting through an entire tour much easier on him if he doesn't have to carry the entire vocal part himself. Maybe even some of those lovely acoustic covers again, and we can watch Charlie do his 'wacka wacka wacka' thing on Knockin On Heaven's Door. That might be a little too much wishful thinking, but with three vocalists up there I hope he does take advantage.

Thanks to my friend appleberry for some really fine recordings of the tour. See you soon!

I sure thought he was serious. And while I agree that Stu's singing was awesome, and that just about anything spontaneous that livens up the show is a good thing...it would've been ten thousand times cooler if Tom Waits had actually been there.

The funniest thing for me was the "Thank you, Tom!" from Bob after Stu finished' :D.

Awesome, thanks!
